Dominican Republic visa guide for Bangladeshi passport holders

How to apply: Embassy visa via New Delhi (confirm) · Last checked: 3 November 2026 · Online version: https://travelcsbd.com/visa/dominican-republic/

We found no official Dominican Republic page that names Bangladesh. Third-party sites say Bangladeshi passport holders need a visa before travel, and we could not find a Dominican embassy in Dhaka. The Dominican Embassy in New Delhi and its VFS Global visa centres in India publish fees and a minimum processing time for visa applications made in India, but eligibility for Bangladeshi applicants is not stated, so key facts are marked for confirmation. Last checked 1 November 2026.

Quick facts

Visa needed?

How to apply

- There is no Dominican embassy in Dhaka that we could find. The Embassy of the Dominican Republic in New Delhi handles visas for applicants in India, and VFS Global operates the application centres. Contact the embassy first and ask in writing whether it accepts Bangladeshi residents, whether you must apply in person, and which checklist applies.
- Do not buy flights or hotels until the embassy confirms. Decisions rest with the Dominican authorities.

Partly verified

Total cost

- Government visa fee: USD 100 for a tourist visa per VFS Global India (checked 1 November 2026). VFS logistics fee: INR 500. Courier, photos, translation and travel to New Delhi are extra. Travel Counsellor Ltd. service charges, if any, are quoted separately in BDT by our office; confirm BDT with our office.
