Guinea-Bissau visa guide for Bangladeshi passport holders

How to apply: Online pre-enrolment (rgb-visa.com) and biometric visa on arrival · Last checked: 6 November 2026 · Online version: https://travelcsbd.com/visa/guinea-bissau/

Guinea-Bissau runs an Electronic Visa Application System at rgb-visa.com. The portal says foreign nationals need a passport and a biometric visa, that the standard visa is single-entry for up to 90 days, and that the online step carries a 2.5 EUR processing fee. The portal does not name Bangladesh, gives no processing time and has no Dhaka contact, so Bangladesh-specific points are marked for confirmation. We found no embassy page for Bangladeshi applicants. Last checked 5 November 2026.

How to apply

- Pre-enrol on the Guinea-Bissau Electronic Visa Application System (rgb-visa.com): enter personal data, travel details and accommodation, and pay the online fee by card. If approved, you receive a confirmation email and a visa slip. Print it and show it with your passport at the border.
- The portal also says the biometric visa is issued on arrival at the airport, which seems to conflict with the online step. Because Bangladeshi applicants are not named, confirm the route with our office before booking.

Total cost

- Government fee: 2.5 EUR online processing fee (portal). The visa fee itself and the BDT equivalent were not stated; confirm with our office. Travel Counsellor Ltd. service charges, if any, are quoted separately in BDT.
