Papua New Guinea visa guide for Bangladeshi passport holders

How to apply: Visa before travel (online eVisa route; confirm) · Last checked: 3 November 2026 · Online version: https://travelcsbd.com/visa/papua-new-guinea/

Papua New Guinea's immigration authority (ICSA, formerly ICA) runs an online eVisa system. We could not open its visa pages from our research tools, so the Bangladesh-specific rule, fee and processing time are not confirmed on an official page. Third-party sites disagree (some say eVisa, some say visa-free), so confirm with ICSA before you book anything. Last checked 3 November 2026.

How to travel

- Do not book non-refundable travel until you have confirmed the rule for a Bangladeshi passport with ICSA. If an eVisa is required, apply on the official portal only and be careful with intermediary sites that add their own charges.
- Flights from Dhaka usually connect through other countries, which may need their own transit visas.

Total cost

- Government visa fee: not confirmed on an official page (third-party sites mention about USD 50 for a tourist eVisa). Add airfare, transit visas and any medical costs. Travel Counsellor Ltd. service charges for document checks, if any, are quoted separately in BDT by our office. Checked 3 November 2026.

Things to watch

- Sources disagree on whether Bangladeshis need an eVisa; get written confirmation from ICSA.
- Use only the official government portal; third-party sites add their own charges.
- Do not use dummy tickets or fake bookings.
- Travel Counsellor Ltd. is a private consultancy, not an embassy. Decisions rest with PNG immigration.
- No approval is guaranteed and rules can change.
