Tuvalu visa guide for Bangladeshi passport holders

How to apply: Visitor permit on arrival (confirm with Tuvalu Immigration) · Last checked: 3 November 2026 · Online version: https://travelcsbd.com/visa/tuvalu/

Tuvalu's Immigration Regulations 2014 (published on PacLII) provide a visitor permit of up to 30 days; the fee is nil for countries on a Schedule 1 list and 100 (dollars) for everyone else. Reference sources say Bangladeshis receive a visitor permit on arrival for up to one month. We could not open the official regulation or Schedule 1 ourselves, so confirm with the Tuvalu Immigration Department before you travel. Last checked 3 November 2026.

How to travel

- Reference sources say Bangladeshi citizens can obtain a visitor permit on arrival at Funafuti for up to one month. Because the official regulation and schedule could not be opened by us, email Tuvalu Immigration before booking and keep their reply.
- Flights to Funafuti are very limited (mainly from Fiji) and connecting countries may require their own transit or entry visas. Check each separately.

Partly verified

Total cost

- Visitor permit fee: reported as 100 (AUD) for nationalities not exempt from the fee; Bangladesh's status is unconfirmed. Extensions are reported at about 100 as well. Flights and cash for local costs are extra. Travel Counsellor Ltd. service charges, if any, are quoted separately in BDT by our office. Checked 3 November 2026.

Things to watch

- Fee amount, currency and Bangladesh's status are unconfirmed; get written confirmation from Tuvalu Immigration.
- Reference sites conflict on stay length (30 days vs one month vs 90 days); rely on the permit stamped by the officer.
- Do not use dummy tickets or fake bookings.
- Travel Counsellor Ltd. is a private consultancy, not an embassy. Entry decisions rest with Tuvalu immigration.
- No approval is guaranteed and rules can change.
