Uruguay visa guide for Bangladeshi passport holders

How to apply: Consular visa (apply at a Uruguayan mission) · Last checked: 2 November 2026 · Online version: https://travelcsbd.com/visa/uruguay/

Uruguay's Ministry of the Interior admission-visa table marks Bangladesh (ordinary passport) as needing a visa with prior authorisation. Uruguay's foreign ministry says applications go to a Uruguayan consulate abroad, the Migration Directorate authorises the visa, and this usually takes at least 20 business days. We did not find an official page naming the Uruguayan mission that serves Bangladesh (the nearest embassy is believed to be in New Delhi), so that point is marked for confirmation. How to apply

- Uruguay's foreign ministry explains that nationals who need a prior visa apply at a Uruguayan consulate abroad. The consulate states its own requirements, sends the file to the Dirección Nacional de Migración for authorisation, and stamps the visa in the passport once it receives the authorisation in writing.
- We found no Uruguayan mission in Dhaka on an official page. Directories mention an honorary consulate in Dhaka and an embassy in New Delhi, but honorary offices may not process visas. Ask our office to confirm the correct mission and its current appointment method before you pay or courier anything.

Partly verified

Total cost

- Government visa fee: USD 42, payable only if the visa is granted (official foreign ministry page). Courier, translation, photo and bank-certificate costs are extra, and mission-specific service charges were not found. Travel Counsellor Ltd. service charges, if any, are quoted separately in BDT by our office. Fees change, so confirm before payment.

Partly verified

Processing time

- The foreign ministry says the process usually takes at least 20 business days from the application date. Add time for courier and any extra document requests. Apply well ahead of travel.

Things to watch

- Third-party visa websites disagree about Bangladesh and Uruguay. Rely only on Uruguayan government pages and the mission that will process your file.
- Do not send your passport to any office until our team has confirmed it is the correct Uruguayan mission for Bangladeshi applicants.
- Travel Counsellor Ltd. is a private consultancy, not an embassy. Decisions rest with Uruguayan authorities.
- No approval is guaranteed and fees can change.
